

Terms and Conditions These Terms and Conditions (“the Terms”) govern your use of this Website (www.breconenergy.com) (“the Website”). Please read these terms and conditions carefully. The Website is owned and provided by Brecon Energy Limited trading as BE and Brecon Energy. References in these Terms to “we” or “us” shall be deemed to be references to Brecon Energy Ltd t/a BE and Brecon Energy and www.breconenergy.com

1. Use of Website a. All use of the website, www.breconenergy.com, is subject to these terms and conditions below. You should only use the Website if you accept the Terms. Your continued use of the website signifies your acceptance of these Terms. If you do not accept all of these Terms you should leave the website immediately. b. You may print and keep a copy of the Terms. They are a legal agreement between us and can only be modified with our consent. We reserve the right to change the Terms at our discretion by changing them on the website.

2. Accuracy of Information and Disclaimer a. The website contains general information and is not intended to constitute specific electrical or mechanical engineering or professional advice. If you have a specific engineering matter or problem please take detailed legal advice from a suitably chartered electrical engineer. b. Whilst we try to ensure that the information contained on the website is accurate, we make no representations that information on the website is accurate or up to date or complete and disclaims all liability in respect of such information. We accept no liability and offer no warranties in relation to the website and its content, to the fullest extent such liability can be excluded by law.

3. Privacy & Cookies Policy All Websites operated by us use cookies; however these cookies do not contain any Personal Data. Any time any individual uses any Brecon Energy Ltd. or www.breconenergy.com website; such use will be subject to cookies unless the individual rejects them. For further information on our use of cookies, please contact us as set out below. a. What are cookies? Cookies are small text files stored on your computer when you visit certain web pages. We use cookies to manage user sessions. Two types of cookies are used on this website: Session Cookies - These are temporary cookies, which only exist Persistent Cookies -These are cookies, which remain on your device after you have visited our website. These cookies help us identify you as a unique visitor (by storing a randomly generated number). The length of time a cookie will remain on your device will depend on the type of cookie. There are no persistent cookies on our website. b. Our Cookies Policy We do not store personally identifiable information in cookies we create. Please note that cookies cannot harm your computer. We use the following cookies on this website: Functional Cookies – The cookies listed below cannot be disabled, as each of them is needed for the functionality of the website. Cookie Name Cookie Information Expires ASP.Net Sessions ASP.NET_SessionId ASP.NET sessions store information within a cookie for the functionality of the website. Sessions are deleted when the browser is closed. This cookie does not share any information with a third party. End of session Most browsers are set to automatically accept cookies. If you’re using Microsoft’s Internet Explorer, Mozilla Firefox, Google Chrome or Safari you should be able to configure your browser to restrict or block cookies, or you may wish to delete them, by changing your browser settings. Below are instructions to change your browser settings for the most commonly used browsers: Microsoft Internet Explorer: Click the ‘Tools’ icon in the top right hand corner and select ‘Internet options’. In the pop up window select the 'Privacy' tab. This tab will allow you to change the security of your browser and the restrictions on cookies. Google Chrome: Click the spanner in the top right hand corner and select 'Settings'. From here select 'Under the hood' and change the settings under 'Privacy'. Mozilla Firefox: From the drop down menu in the top left hand corner select 'Options'. In the pop up window select the 'Privacy' tab. From here you can adjust your cookie settings. Safari: From the settings drop down menu in the top right hand corner select 'Preferences'. Select the 'Security' tab and from here you can adjust your cookie settings. Each browser is different, so check the 'Help' menu of your particular browser (or your mobile phone's handset manual) to learn how to change your cookie preferences. If you choose to disable cookies, you will still be able to browse the site and use it for research purposes. If you're not sure of the type and version of web browser you use to access the Internet: For PCs: Click on 'Help' at the top of your browser window and select the 'About' option For Macs: With the browser window open, click on the Apple menu and select the 'About' . c. Further information about cookies If you would like to learn more about cookies and how to manage them visit www.aboutcookies.org (opens in a new window - please note that we can't be responsible for the content of external websites). We're giving you this information as part of our initiative to comply with recent legislation, and to make sure we are clear about your privacy when using our website. We are working on a number of other privacy and cookie related improvements to the website.

4. Limitation a. We provide most information on this website free of any access charge. In no event shall we be liable to you for, in the case of non-chargeable services any direct loss, and for both chargeable and non chargeable services any direct, indirect or consequential loss, loss of profit, revenue or good will arising from your use of the website or information on the website. Subject as provided below, all terms implied by law are excluded. b. We accept liability for death or personal injury caused by negligence or responsibility for fraudulent misrepresentation that cannot, under English law, be excluded. c. We cannot guarantee that the Website will be technically suitable for viewing on your computer or that the website will be delivered to you uninterrupted in a timely manner, secure or error-free. We cannot guarantee that the website and the server are free of computer viruses or other harmful applications. d. We do not accept any responsibility for computer equipment, mobile phone equipment and telecommunications service required to use the website. e. We are not responsible for the availability of access to and links from the website and you are expected to ensure that your hardware and software are capable of effectively accessing the website via your Internet Service Provider. You are also advised to use appropriate anti-virus software before and during access to the website. f. Access to the website may be restricted from time to time due to events beyond our reasonable control. Where this happens we will attempt to restore the website as soon as we reasonably can. g. The website contains links to other websites and to material contained on other websites. We are not responsible for the content of other websites and to the extent permitted by law we do not accept liability in respect of such content and of any other websites or content which you may be able to access from these websites. If you make an arrangement with anyone named or connected with the Website other than a director or an employee of Brecon Energy Limited, this is at your sole risk. h. We cannot guarantee that the website complies with laws and requirements outside the jurisdiction of England and Wales.

5. Your responsibility to us a. You may not create a hypertext link to the website without obtaining our prior written consent. We reserve the right to remove any linking or framing to the website. b. You agree to use the website pursuant to these Terms and for lawful purposes only. c. You shall be responsible for any losses, expenses or other costs incurred by Brecon Energy Ltd which are caused by your breach of these Terms.

6. Legal Jurisdiction These Terms shall be governed by and construed according to the laws of England and Wales. You agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts for all purposes in connection with these Terms, notwithstanding the jurisdiction where you are based. You irrevocably agree that the courts of England and Wales shall have non-exclusive jurisdiction to settle any dispute which may arise out of, under, or in connection with the Terms and for those purposes irrevocably submit all disputes to the jurisdiction of the English courts. The place of performance shall be England.

7. General a. We shall have the right to immediately terminate your use of the website if you breach these Terms or misuse the website, or engaged in conduct which objectively could be regarded as inappropriate or is unlawful or illegal or which could bring Brecon Energy Ltd into disrepute. b. Failure by us to enforce a right does not result in waiver of such right. c. Any formal legal notices should be sent to us at the address at the end of the Terms by email confirmed by post. d. You may not assign or transfer your rights under this agreement. e. If any part of these Terms is found by the Court to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions will continue in full force and effect. f. The website and all intellectual property rights in its design, text, graphics, trade marks, logos and trade names depicted in the website belong to us or our licensees (unless stated otherwise). No part of the Website may be reproduced, modified, distributed or stored in a database or in any way commercially exploited without our prior written permission.

8. Further Information Further information on the Terms or any queries on them can be obtained from: Brecon Energy Limited a company incorporated in England and Wales with company number 09474226 whose registered office is at 10 Darren Drive, Prince of Wales Industrial Estate, Abercarn, Newport, Gwent, S. Wales NP11 5AR. Telephone (+44) (0) 1495 248779 Facsimile (+44) (0) 1495 248421 Email: info@breconenergy.com